

FIELD TRIP GUIDEBOOK

PALEOTECTONICS — SAN JUAN MOUNTAINS
DOLORES FORMATION — PALEOSOLS AND DEPOSITIONAL SYSTEMS
JURASSIC DEPOSITIONAL SYSTEMS — SAN JUAN BASIN
QUATERNARY DEPOSITS AND SOILS — DURANGO AREA

37th ANNUAL MEETING
ROCKY MOUNTAIN SECTION
GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA
FORT LEWIS COLLEGE
DURANGO, COLORADO

1984

Douglas C. Brew, Editor

HOSTED BY

THE DEPARTMENT OF GEOLOGY
FORT LEWIS COLLEGE
DURANGO, COLORADO 81301

FOUR CORNERS GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY
BOX 1501
DURANGO, COLORADO 81301

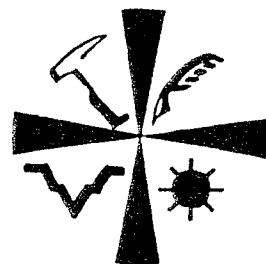

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Geology of the Western San Juan Mountains	1
by D.L. Baars and J.A. Ellingson
Road Log: Fort Lewis College to Silverton	33

Nonmarine Depositional Environments and Paleosol Development in the Upper Triassic Dolores Formation, Southwestern Colorado	46
by Robert H. Blodgett
Summary of Field Trip Stops	50
Road Log from Durango to Telluride, Colorado, via Mancos, Dolores, and Rico, Colorado	62
Second Day Road Log from Telluride to Durango, Colorado via Ouray and Silverton, Colorado	75

Stratigraphy and Depositional Environments of Jurassic Rocks, San Juan Basin, New Mexico, with emphasis on the South and West Sides	93
by Steven M. Condon and A. Curtis Huffman
Jurassic Stratigraphy and Depositional Environments, Southern and Western San Juan Basin (Road Log)	108
by A. Curtis Huffman, Steven M. Condon, and Robert E. Thaden

Quaternary Deposits and Soils in the Durango Area, Southwestern Colorado.	149
by Mary L. Gillam, David W. Moore, and Glenn R. Scott
Road Log - Quaternary Deposits and Soils in the Durango Area, Southwestern Colorado.	183
by David W. Moore and Mary L. Gillam

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Several organizations and individuals, beyond those already noted by the contributors to this book, deserve mention for specific contributions they have made to the guidebook. Baars and Ellingson would like to thank the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, the Four Corners Geological Society, the New Mexico Geological Society, and the Rocky Mountain Association of Geologists for granting permission to reprint figures from several of their respective publications. Gillam, Moore, and Scott extend their thanks to Marith Reheis, Tony Gibbons, and Michael N. Machette, who reviewed their paper, and Harold Malde, who printed Figure 4 of their paper. The editor would particularly like to extend his thanks to the production staff of The Herald Printers, who labored intensely in the eleventh hour to complete this book: John Lehmann, Dan Van Kilsdonk, Diana Kennedy, and production manager Jim Miller. Their resilience, good humor and expertise has been greatly appreciated.